

was a significant result, compared with activity at 60-90 °C.

It was found that the allergen content did not 5 substantially recover over time.